CAHORS MALBEC

WINES of CAHORS

'Created in 1971, the AOC Cahors is moving to the front of the stage with an ambition to showcase its singularities as well as to go more global thanks to its identity as the cradle of Malbec.

The stakes are quite clear: associating Cahors' authenticity with a modern image, to benefit from current trends, while preserving the appellation's true identity. Cahors isn't an industrial wine, it is a wine derived from various terroirs, suited to the production of great wines, unique to their region of origin. In addition, Cahors isn't a Bordeaux, Burgundy, Rhône or new world wannabe. Cahors wines must be made with a minimum of 70% Malbec. Last but not least, Cahors isn't pink, white, yellow or even red. It's the darkest of all colours: it is celebrated by the English since the 13th century. Claiming two positive and modern values, we proudly say: "Cahors is back, Cahors is noirs, Cahors is malbec!"

Alain Janicot
